

Assess the view that practical considerations are more important than theoretical and ethical issues when choosing a piece of research.

